WORLD WANTS WORK WONDERS

"TORTURE" HAZING AT ANNAPOLIS IS STILL IN VOGUE

Revelations About It Come Out at Inquiry Into "Cribbing."

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 25.—Not only examination cheating at the Naval Academy, but hazing in all its old-time vigor was charged before the "cribbing" investigation to-day by Midshipman C. M. Reagle. Reagle told before his possession of keys to the various Academy departments and of the midnight visits he paid to them, but represented that he was merely skydiving and gained no advantage so far as examinations were concerned from his escapades. To-day he admitted that he often secured information concerning questions to be asked and solutions of work to be done. At this point counsel for the defense suggested that Reagle clearly had perjured himself and asked if his testimony was to be received. Capt. Russell, President of the Court, answered affirmatively.

The witness said he had tried to protect the accused midshipmen but had finally decided to tell all he knew. Those involved were "middles" said to have profited by his activities.

Referring to hazing, Reagle declared "cussing out"—profane abuse of underclassmen—common. He referred also to the continued physical exercises under compulsion, speaking of it as "torture." Things of this kind went on, he asserted, in the mess hall at meal time and almost under the eyes of the officers.

Among the things he said "plebs" were required to do were the "hazing rest," the "knee stoop," the "stoop forward"—regular setting up exercises but prolonged to the point of exhaustion—and "standing on the beam" or head.

"I have been made to go on my 'bean' and had mudsludge poured down my legs," said Reagle. "And I have been made to go on my 'bean' under the shower."

This testimony was developed by counsel for the defense, which sought to show that upper classmen made their juniors secure information for them by hazing or threatening to take them.

Reagle told of having numerous keys to buildings, rooms and receptacles in the offices of instructors. He also said there was a general circulation of keys to certain rooms in the barracks where midshipmen would go and smoke, in violation of the rule against that practice.

Reagle also declared that Midshipman R. M. Nelson, an honor man of the first class, who is one of the seven original defendants recommended for dismissal, had keys to rooms and drawers of instructors. He said he had borrowed a key to the department in English from Nelson on one occasion.

ONE-MINUTE KISS HEROINE TELLS OF "PLATONIC" FRIEND

was drawn on the Corn Exchange Bank by Miss Tempest. They ran all the way from $75 to $1,500. A check for the latter amount Miss Tempest identified as one she had given in payment of some party dresses she needed two years ago.

On cross-examination Attorney Gustave Lange Jr. did not dwell at length upon the protective feature. Q. Have your friendship and relations remained all through these eighteen years? A. Yes, sir. And while I have been friendly, too, with Mr. Robertson, there has not been that attachment I naturally felt for Mr. Schiffer.

Miss Tempest was excused. After a bitter fight between opposing counsel Justice Delahanty permitted Mr. Lange to read to the jury a transcript of testimony taken in the divorce suit of Mrs. Mildred G. Bell against James Bell, a Wall Street broker, which was tried last January. Miss Tempest, it was alleged at the opening of the Robertson trial, was named as co-respondent in the Bell case.

The record showed that although Miss Tempest was not named as co-respondent her colored maid testified that one morning she went into Miss Tempest's bedroom to serve breakfast and found Bell, Miss Tempest and Lillian Splittorf there. The jury laughed.

ATTACHE IS RECALLED.

Lieut. Latham Ordered From Paris as Others Were From Germany.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—That Lieut. J. C. Latham, now on his way to this country from Paris, where he was Naval Attache at the American Embassy, had been permanently recalled, was learned at the Navy Department to-day. No explanation was obtainable, but it was generally taken for granted that the action was in line with the policy which led to the recent recall of the American military attaches in Germany.

Officialdom was reticent concerning these recalls, too, but it has been the impression that none of the European belligerents was very friendly to observation by foreigners. The allies permitted no military observers with their forces at any time.

WITNESSES FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE SWEAR THAT THAW IS SANE

demeanor always impressed him as "very rational."

On cross-examination Deputy Attorney General Becker questioned the witness closely as to Thaw's interest in the children in the reform school. All the witness could say was that he thought Thaw was only interested in the spirit of revenge or resentment a punished child might feel and his desire that an appeal might be made to another side of a refractory child's nature.

Walter M. Lang, a real estate dealer of Manchester, N. H., who had known Thaw since October, 1914, related a telephone conversation with Thaw in regard to renting a house in Manchester. Thaw was then living in Gorham, N. H.

"I told Mr. Thaw that there was a wine room in the house I suggested renting to him," the witness said, "but he told me he was not interested in wine rooms."

Mr. Lang said he had visited Thaw and dined with him and he had never noted in him any demeanor other than that of a gentleman of entire rationality.

On cross-examination Mr. Cook asked the witness if he knew anything about paranoia, and received a reply in the negative.

"You wouldn't know Dementia Praecox if you met her in the street, would you?" asked the witness.

"No," replied the witness, and he and the spectators laughed as he left the stand.

WOMAN SAYS SHE BELIEVES THAW IS SANE

Mrs. Lang, the wife of the preceding witness, gave corroborating evidence as to Thaw's rationality.

Eugene J. Neumeier, former United States Marshal in Manchester, N. H., said he liked Thaw and believed him sane. He and Thaw had often played wauchoir, and the witness described himself as the best player in Manchester and an authority on the game.

"Do you know that the world's greatest expert in chess is now in Matamoras and knows nothing else?" Mr. Cook asked, and the witness replied that he didn't know it, and was not sure.

Robert P. Johnston, a flour miller of Manchester, N. H., testified that Thaw refused to dance with any girls at the Manchester balls.

Mr. Cook, on cross-examination, took the witness into the intricacies of dance steps and wanted to know whether the one-step and the "kitchen sink" had permeated to Manchester.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY THINKS THAW SANE

Burrett Hinman, prosecuting attorney of Coos County, N. H., who met Thaw in Gorham, testified that he believed Thaw to be rational.

Mrs. Helen B. Chandler of Gorham, N. H., wife of a hotel proprietor in that place, was another witness who considered Thaw normal.

Charles A. Chandler, husband of the preceding witness, testified he had gone camping and fishing with Thaw and had him as a guest in his hotel, and believed him sane and "very nice." There had been no complaints about Thaw from any of the other guests, he said.

Moving pictures of Harry K. Thaw, taken while he was confined in the Coaticook Jail, in Canada, a month after his escape from Matamoras Asylum, are to be shown upon a screen in Supreme Court Justice Hendrick's court room for the enlightenment of the jury which is sitting now to pass upon his sanity.

Deputy Attorney General Frank K.

Cook, the State's chief prosecuting officer in the present trial of Thaw, learned of the existence of these pictures two days ago, and lost no time in locating them and beginning arrangement for their projection upon a screen for the jury to see.

The pictures were taken in September, 1913, in and about Coaticook Jail under the personal direction of Hal Reid, who appeared in several sections of the film with Harry Thaw.

"When the jury sees these pictures," Mr. Cook said this afternoon, "I feel sure they will recognize the marked eccentricity of Thaw at that time."

It became known to-day that Thaw's attorneys had asked the State's legal representatives to release Thaw on bail and postpone the present trial until the autumn and had been refused. The reason alleged to have been advanced was that Thaw wanted to take a trip to the Panama-Pacific Exposition with his mother.

CONFESSED 13 MURDERS.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 25.—Byd Jones, hanged here to-day, left a notice in his cell in which he confessed responsibility for thirteen murders. Two of his victims were white men, one a Mobie and Ohio brakeman and the other a Minnesota deputy sheriff. The others were negroes.

BUSINESS PARTNER FAILS WHEN TAKEN FOR LIFE

So Mrs. Mabel Cole Stoddard Demotes Him and Also Divorces Him.

Before Supreme Court Justice Erlanger to-day Mrs. Mabel Cole Stoddard, wealthy real estate operator, put the finishing touches to her romantic marriage to Albert H. Stoddard, whom she sued for divorce.

Mrs. Stoddard, who lives at the Biltmore, told how she took her husband into business with her, promoting him from a clerk to Vice-President of the M. C. Cole Real Estate Company, of which she is the head. After making him her life partner things did not go along so well.

Mrs. Stoddard discovered that there was another Mrs. Albert Stoddard, who lived with Stoddard in the Creighton Apartments, No. 128 West Forty-seventh Street. She demoted him immediately and got another Vice President for her company. Also she got a divorce decree to-day.

WONDERFUL HOW RESINOL STOPS ITCHING

To those who have endured for years the itching torments of eczema or other skin eruptions, the relief that the first use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap gives is perfectly incredible. After all the suffering they have endured and all the useless treatments they spent good money for, they cannot believe anything so simple, mild and inexpensive can stop the itching and burning INSTANTLY! And they find it still more wonderful that the improvement is permanent and that Resinol really drives away the eruption completely in a very short time. Perhaps there is a pleasant surprise like this in store for you. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists.—Adv't.
